

Eastern and South-Eastern Asia: Precipitation

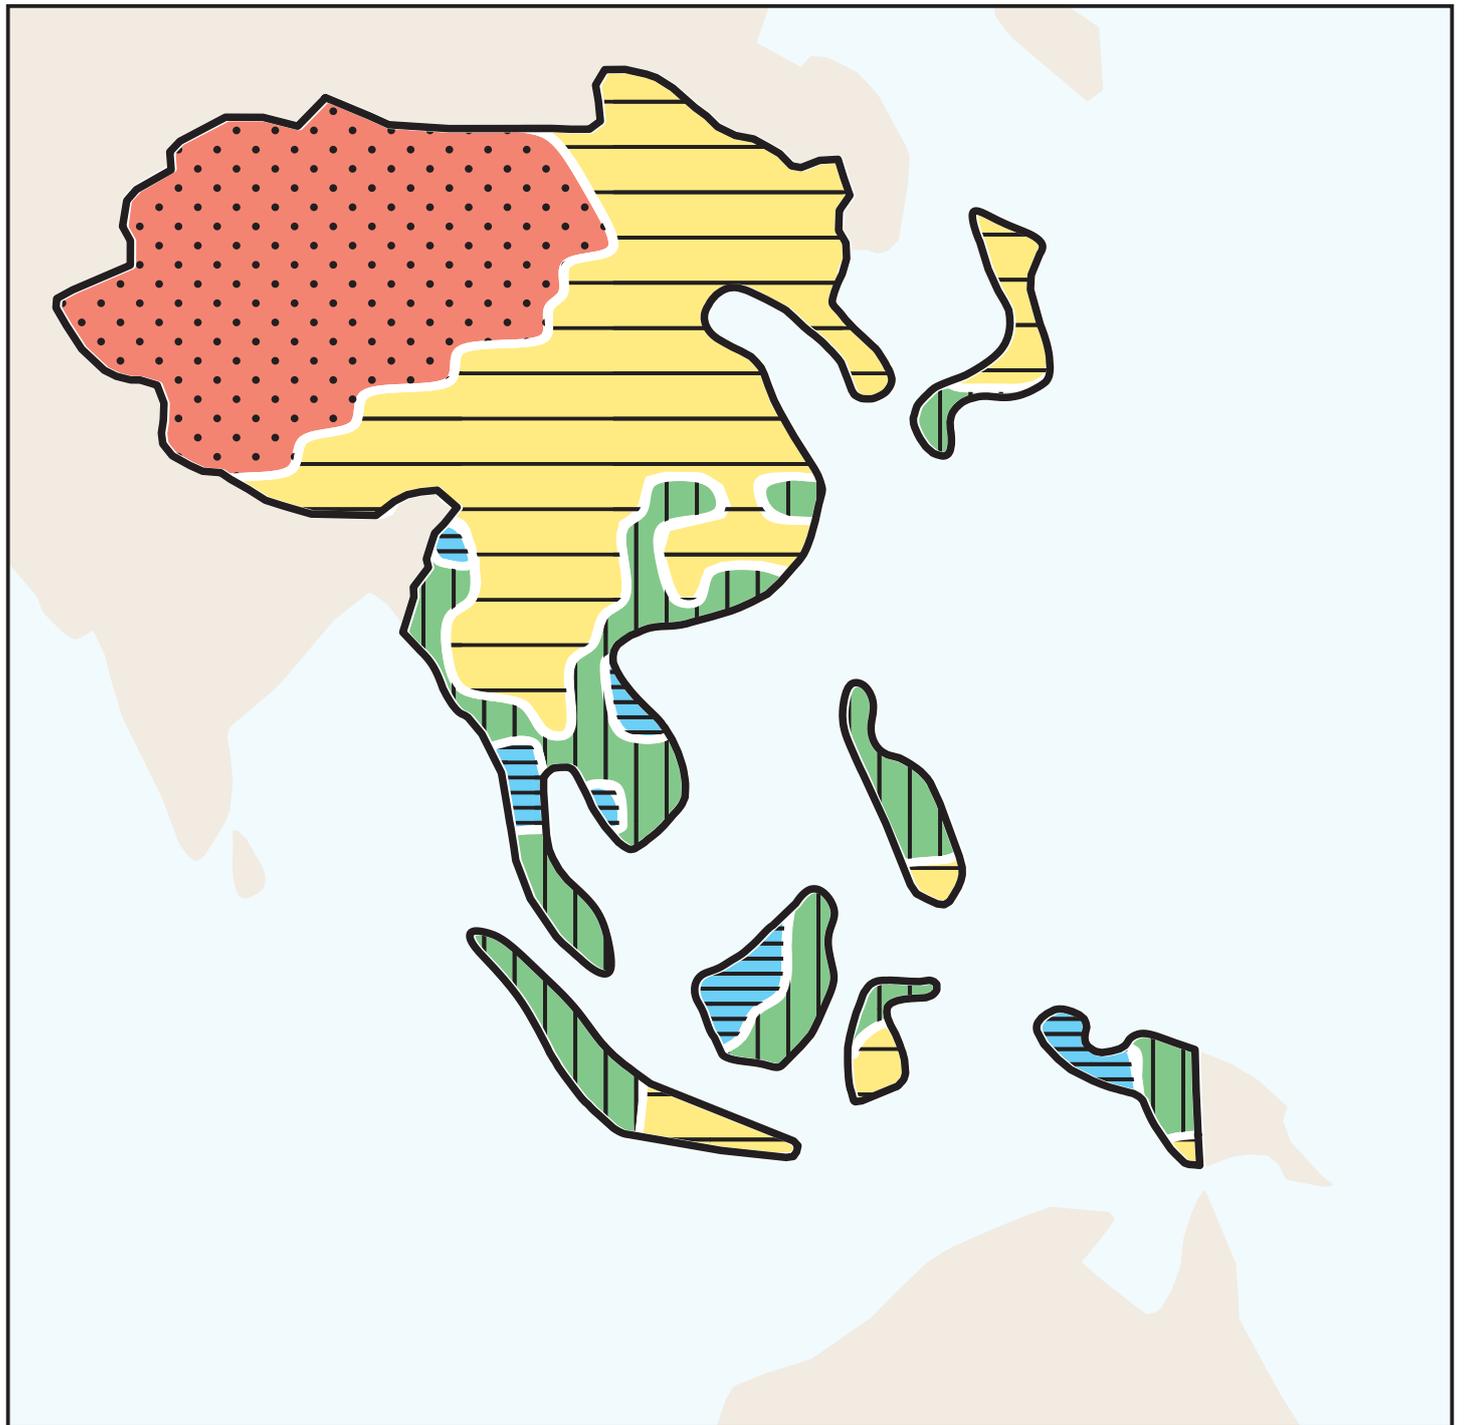

2020

Map showing precipitation patterns in Eastern and South-Eastern Asia for the year 2020. The map uses color coding to represent different precipitation levels across the region.

2 cm = 1,000 km

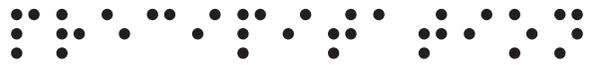

1:50,000,000
Scale represents 1,000 km

Legend for precipitation levels: High (Red dotted), Moderate (Yellow horizontal stripes), Low (Green vertical stripes), Very Low (Blue diagonal stripes).

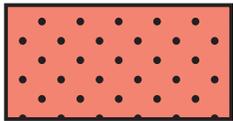

Map showing precipitation patterns in Eastern and South-Eastern Asia for the year 2020.

^ Precipitation

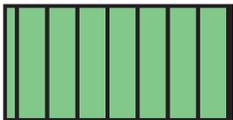

Annual Precipitation Level

Minimal

Low

Moderate

High

Helpers Note:
This legend can be used for all precipitation maps so not all of the symbols in the legend are present on all of the maps

